Raphael: Today we are going to listen to an article .

Kirin: What kind of an article ?

Raphael: In today's article , is going to review the new words we learned recently . Ok, let's first listen to the today's article at normal speed

Kirin: In recent years , the internet has changed many people's daily habits . Many new companies use the advantages of the internet , to give them more opportunities to make money . So like some companies which have been doing business on the market for longer times , if they want to make more money , they may have to change a little their ways of doing business . Right now, we can use the internet to do many things . For example, chat with friends or clients , buy and sell things online , or use the internet to download movies and music etc . As well, on some models of cell phones now, you can also surf the internet . So some people feel that the internet is very convenient , but some people still prefer their lives before when there was no internet , perhaps this is because they prefer the feeling of communicating face to face to people .

Raphael: Let's listen again to this article at a slowed down speed .
