224 Notes (Simplified / Traditional)

While in general the metric system is universally used in China and Taiwan, there are also some measures used that are only found in Chinese culture. Many of the measures used in Taiwan are based on Dutch and Japanese colonial history and so aren't found in mainland China. Likewise there are many traditional measure units that are only used in mainland China, which also differ from those used in Hong Kong. Take a look at the vocabulary page to see some of the other measure units in Chinese.
